

United Nations Environment Programme

environment for development

World Environment Day - 5 June 2004

Arabic - Français - Español - Russian - Chinese

You are here:

Printable Version

Around the World

New Feature: WED Pictures from Around the World

Africa - Asia/Pacific - Europe - Latin America/Caribbean - North America - West Asia

Every year World Environment Day is celebrated around the world. We invite you, your country, your city, your town or your village to celebrate this day with us. To advertise and share the activities you are planning, please contact

Ms. Elisabeth Guilbaud-Cox

Message from Mr Koïchiro Matsuura, Director-General of UNESCO, on the occasion of World Environment Day 2004

[\[English\]](#) [\[Français\]](#) [\[Spanish\]](#) [\[Russian\]](#) [\[Chinese\]](#) [\[Arabic\]](#)

EUROPE

Ferrara, Italy

The Museo Storia Naturale in Ferrara, Emilia-Romagna, Italy is organizing, on WED this year, a two-day event on the Adriatic Sea Coast to explain to the general public the functioning and the management problem of the seas by using examples from the sea closest to the region, namely Northern Adriatic Sea.

Furthermore two conferences will be held in the afternoon of 12 June 2004 about:

- The Project "Scubadivers for the Environment: results of the first two years of the project in the Mediterranean Sea", Dott. Stefano Goffredo, Marine Science Group, University of Bologna, Italy.

- "Monitoring and healthness of the Northern Adriatic Sea", Dr. Carla Rita Ferrari, Battello Oceanografico "Daphne" - ARPA Emilia-Romagna, Italy

For more information, please contact:

Dr. Carla Corazza

Resp. Stazione di Ecologia, webmaster

Museo Civico di Storia Naturale

via De Pisis, 24

I-44100 Ferrara

Email: c.corazza@comune.fe.it, stazecol@comune.fe.it

URL: <http://www.comune.fe.it/storianaturale> (for more information in Italian)